War Gas Grips Entire City; 11 Dead

USE MASKS TO BATTLE FUMES

Hamburg, Germany, May 21 (AP)—Faced with all the grim reality of chemical warfare, the city of Hamburg today was fighting a deluge of phosgene gas—a wartime poison gas—escaping from a chemical factory in the free harbor district and overcoming a large number of persons.

By noon today 11 persons, most of them firemen and policemen, were dead and 99 victims were in hospitals under treatment.

The entire city was menaced, but it was hoped that rain which, not in vain, would wash the gas away.

A needed number of gas masks for the use of those actively fighting the menace reached Hamburg from Berlin after emergency call had been sent for them.

A northwest wind also was carrying the fumes from the city in the Please Turn to Page 2, Column 1

MAN AND WIFE LEAP AS AUTO AND TRAIN CRASH

Providence, May 21 (AP)—Leap from their stalled touring car to avoid death under the wheels of an oncoming Consolidated electric train, on the New Haven road, Mr. and Mrs. William Hubbard of Riverside, saved their lives today but witnessed the demolition of their automobile.

Engineer Archie Day said he saw the touring car approaching the crossing and apparently slowing down. Then, he declared, the car leaped forward, stalling on the track.

The Southern Baptist Church, with 3,700,000 members, votes to "break party lines, if a wet is nominated." This, of course, refers to Governor Smith, although the Baptists do not say so.

If any candidate, dry or wet, could get the votes of all church people that are not infrequently "dry" by would do well.

Meanwhile, Democrats talk of nominating Governor Smith by "taxation." This would cost off many beautifully prepared speeches and probably won't happen. It is certain Governor Smith has already more than 600 votes and is nominated.

Fireworks Tonight Common

Rain or shine, hear the loud report and fireworks display postponed from Saturday night, take place on Boston Common tonight. Mayor Nichols announced this afternoon.

From 8 to 9 o'clock there will be a concert from the Park Street band and short addresses by Timothy C. Murphy, Minister of the Irish Free State, and Baron Kurt von Toppelshoven, German consul-general.

The fireworks display, starting at 9, will depict the flight of the Bremen.

UNITARIANS CONDEMN 'BLACKLIST' OF D. A. R.

By a vote of acclamation, the Unitarian Ministerial Union, assembled in convention in Boston, today went on record as adopting a resolution unambiguously opposed to the "blacklist" endorsed by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The meeting at which the resolution was adopted was one of a series of affiliated organizations of the American Unitarian Association, celebrating its anniversary week here.

The meeting of the union was held in Bulfinch Park Church, with 200 delegates present. The Rev. Carlyle Sumner of Holliston, a member of the Sons of American Revolution, was sponsor of the resolution, which was as follows:

"We, as Unitarian ministers, should unreservedly oppose of free speech in America and stand against blacklists such as was recently endorsed by the Daughters of the American Revolution."

GIRL HELD IN 'HIT-RUN' CASE AFTER WILD CHASE

An automobile outdistanced the police in a 70-mile-an-hour chase following an accident in Winchester st., Winchester, but a girl, one of the two occupants of the alleged hit-and-run car, appeared in Woburn court today.

She was Miss Ellen E. O'Donnell, 20, of Dearborn st., Medford. According to the police this was at the wheel of the car which struck Noble Gates of Green st., Woburn. With her and teaching her to drive, police

VANDERBILT SUED AGAIN BY WIFE

Newport, R. I., May 21—Mrs. Emily Davies Vanderbilt today brought suit for divorce against William H. Vanderbilt, charging neglect to provide.

The suit was brought in local Superior Court and asked adjournment and that the custody of their three-year-old daughter, Emily, be determined by the court.

The action was heard on its merits in June, 1937, when the plaintiff was awarded a divorce, together with John L. Still, representing Vanderbilt, whose address is given as Oakland Park, Portsmouth, R. I.

Many Mothers Send in Highway Safety Don'ts

FRANK A. GOODWIN
Highway Safety Editor Boston Evening American and former Registrar of Motor Vehicles for Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Among the letters received by the Editor of the Mothers' Safety Drive is one from Mrs. O. V. Sprague, of 2 Central st., Salem, which carries a sermon to children too young to be responsible for their acts.

"I am a mother of three children—seven, five and three years of age," writes Mrs. Sprague. "I am forever warning the older ones about auto-mobility."

"Many times they beg me to let them take out their small sister, who is three years old, but I would think of it for I know while they are playing the three-year-old one would run off and possibly into the street."

The excellent judgment displayed by this mother, and the lack of similar judgment by all too many mothers, is best illustrated by the news taken from the statistics of 1936.

Of the 234 children killed that year 55 were five years of age or under. Children of five years or less are absolutely irresponsible and should not be allowed on the street unless in the care of someone who will not neglect them.

It is remarkable what an interest this "Safety Campaign" has aroused among the mothers in every part of New England.

Hundreds of letters are coming to the office of the Boston Evening American daily with "Don'ts" and "Do's" every case the writer states that she is impressing her own "Don'ts" on her children.

The following letter from Mrs. Please Turn to Page 16, Column 4.

CLERGY DEMAND STATE HOUSE LIQUOR PROBE

Prominent Boston churchmen have demanded that the State House liquor investigation, ordered by Governor Fuller and already in session for several days, be opened to the public.

This was revealed today as the hearings were resumed behind closed doors, as usual, before Commissioner of Administration and Finance Charles P. Howard.

This demand resulted from the "rum diary" of Waseel Doherty, a State House fireman, who has submitted to the investigators his observations of some state officials and employees in the vicinity of the storeroom where seized liquors are kept.

Pious indications are given that the charges may be used in coming political campaigns.

A State official, described by Doherty both in his diary and in comments on it today, is "dragger" and "carrying liquor to his own car" and "almost wrecking his car while trying to drive it away," (turned the charges "rubber" when questioned today).

This official, admitted that Doherty had raised the charges accusing him.

Doherty disclosed today that he had a duplicate copy of his diary, having stored it, solely in a safe, to guard against any sudden burning of the diary. He had named out to the investigators.

Additional charges came in as the fireman commented on his diary entries.

FOG FORCES MAIL FLIER TO LAND IN WELLESLEY

The New York small plane, bound for Boston, was forced down at Wellesley, Mass., by fog today, after Capt. Ritchie W. Mackie, pilot, had been "just smoking over the hills for 30 miles." It was Capt. Mackie's third forced landing in three days out of a dozen.

Long after tea was due at the Boston Airport, Capt. Mackie set his plane down in a field near the town of Wellesley, Mass., about 10 miles from Boston.

When he alighted the engine stalled in his hand for a landing through the thickening fog he had less than 100 feet altitude.

The mail was taken in steps by Please Turn to Page 2, Column 1.

The gas escaped from a tank in the chemical factory of Dr. Hugo Stieglitz.

Phosgene is no longer manufactured here, but quantities of it were stored in large tanks.

The first effects of the gas were felt near the harbor, driving residents of the district from their homes in a panic.

The evacuation shed of the Hamburg-American line will be pressed into service to shelter the homeless, while the police requisitioned all available milk as a gas antidote.

All the ambulances and fire brigades in Hamburg were mobilized for service, the first brigade donning gas masks and fighting off the fumes with ammonia.

W. H. Vanderbilt Is Sued by His Wife

part of young Mrs. Vanderbilt to obtain a divorce from the son of the late Gwynne Vanderbilt, the first having been made in Paris two years ago. At that time Mrs. Vanderbilt instituted divorce action in the Seine tribunal, having informed her friends that she was tired of marriage.

First suit withdrawn.

In June of 1922 her husband and his mother, Mrs. Paul Fitz Simons of Newport, sailed for France and induced Mrs. Vanderbilt to withdraw her divorce petition.

At the time the divorce action was started the little girl was with her father in New York. In 1922 Vanderbilt and his wife jointly petitioned the Portsmouth, R. I., court to appoint the father as legal guardian of the child.

The reasonable reason was to enable Vanderbilt to act on valuable securities placed in his daughter's name.

The couple were married in 1913 in Grace Church, New York, the bride being the daughter of Mrs. Frederick Martin Davis, whose late husband for years was an intimate friend of Alfred G. Vanderbilt, who went down on the Lusitania.

"Willie" Vanderbilt is a great-grandson and namesake of William H. Vanderbilt who founded the fortune of the family. He is a nephew of Cornelius and Reinhold G. Vanderbilt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, Countess Lady Spencer, Lady Chesham of London and Anne Thelma French of Texas.

Young Mrs. Vanderbilt served in the Navy during the World War and after attaining his majority in 1922 he took up banking for a time.

Later he made a trip around the world with his mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fitz Simons. His mother had divorced Col. Vanderbilt and married again.

The marriage with Miss Davies was hailed as a love match, the couple having been companions for years.

Miss Davies was wealthy in her own right.

In 1922 young Vanderbilt arrived his friends by starting to operate a bus line from Boston to Providence.

He drove the first bus over the road accompanied by a group of Boston men associated with him in the project.

Under the influence of liquor he was arrested and fined $100.

At the time the Legislature prorogued last year, he declared.

Times of most activity in the operation of transferring liquor from the storeroom to waiting automobiles were at June 13th and July 4, 1922, and at Easter time, 1923, he sold 20 automobiles carrying away supplies on the last occasion.

Doherty told of a clerk in a certain police department who, he said, arrested him under the influence of liquor one day and entered the liquor room. Some time later, according to Doherty, he was carried out to a waiting automobile. The freeman said he helped carry him out.

The diary also describes, according to its author, how a State official received the building at a late hour one night and found three employees of his department there in a semi-intoxicated condition. His alleged action was to send them home and emerge from the storeroom later himself, carrying a bundle.

According to another source of information, it was said today that no liquor was removed from the State House until it was analyzed, only the best varieties being taken for use by those said to have access to the room. It was also denied that only the storeroom custodian had keys to the place.

Charles P. Howard, commissioner of administration and finance, who is conducting the inquiry for the governor, declined to comment on the diary, explaining that it was his duty to report to Governor Fuller the results of his investigation without any public disclosures.

There was no indication that the rest of the hearings would be made open to the public.

It was learned that Doherty had been questioned about maps missing from his diary and had offered the explanation that these contained entries which had to do only with himself and were of no concern to the investigators.

Woman Sets Record in 50-Hour Swim

Chicago, May 21 (AP)—What man has done, man can do—with the probability that woman can do it even better.

Mrs. Myrtle Huddleston of Mattson, Ill., was taken from the pool of the Lincoln Park West Hotel early today after having been swimming there 50 hours 10 minutes 14.45 seconds. This time beats by 17 hours 50 minutes the best previous endurance record for women, made Saturday by Miss Nyle Austin of San Bernardino, Cal.

At 9 o'clock by a 4-hour 10-minute rest, Mrs. Huddleston, a 30-year-old mother, is no novice to the water, she formerly held the world's endurance swimming record for women, the Catalina Channel race.

The swimmer's son was not present when officials lifted her from the water, this being the first time he has been absent from the finish of any of his mother's record-making attempts.

Mrs. Huddleston, who weighed 245 pounds when not put on the scales when taken from the tank, but the 15 swimming coaches of Chicago athletic associations who acted as officials during the endurance attempt estimated that she had lost 20 or more pounds.

Mrs. Huddleston's reward for record breaking was $500, offered by the Bausman Hotel, Inc.

WOMAN SMASHES WORLD MARKS

Mrs. Myrtle Huddleston and son of Mattson, Ill. The 30-year-old mother broke all records for endurance swim in Chicago hotel tank with a mark of 50 hours 10 minutes 14.45 seconds, and won a $5000 purse. Mrs. Huddleston was the only woman to finish in the Catalina Island channel swim off California last year.

Hub Airmail Plane Forced Down by Fog

SKIMMED THE HILLS FOR 50 MILES
The Boston pound mail plane from New York was forced down at Wellesley College this morning while poking its way through the fog at less than 100 feet altitude. It was Capt. Richard W. Mackie's third forced landing in three days.

Here are the Bremen fliers with their hosts at a private reception at the home of Baron Kurt von Tippleskirch, German consul, at 22 Windsor rd., Brookline. The birdmen went to the Tippleskirch residence directly on leaving that of Cardinal O'Connell, where they were felicitated by the prelate on the epochal east to west flight.

FLIERS PROMISE TO VISIT LUB AGAIN; FIND ALBANY ASLEEP

BREMEN MEN PLAN TO GO TO CANADA TONIGHT

Albany, N. Y., May 21 (INS)—Ten thousand Albanians joined by hundreds from all parts of eastern New York, lined the streets today and paid homage to the Bremen ship as they were escorted from Union Station to the DeWitt Clinton Hotel, near the Capitol.

Perched on the rear seat of Mayor John Boyd Thayer's automobile, the three transatlantic heroes were accorded a reception second to none that had ever been given by this old Dutch city.

The fliers arrived from Boston shortly after 8 a. m. but it was 10 o'clock when they entered from their car.

As the procession moved up State street to the municipal carillon in the City Hall tower peaked forth "The Watch on the Rhine" for Baron von Hunsfeld and Capt. Koehl, and "Kilgarney" for Maj. Fitzmaurice.

The fliers came to Albany at the invitation of Governor Alfred E. Smith. He went to their hotel at noon to greet them and escorted them to Fort Orange Club, where they were tendered a luncheon by the Chamber of Commerce.

Later they inspected Albany's new airport. Tomorrow they will be given a dinner by the Chamber of Commerce at which Governor Smith, Mayor Thayer and other officials will welcome them. The fliers are scheduled to leave by train at 11 p. m. for Montreal.

The first anniversary of Lindbergh's flight, to Paris was remembered by the fliers, who telegraphed the "Lone Eagle".

"Congratulations on first anniversary of your remarkable flight. You blazed the way for others to follow. Many happy landings."

Fliers Promise to Return to Hub Before Going Home

Saddened by news of the accident to the Bremen, but rejoicing in having been accorded a welcome never surpassed in Boston, Baron von Hunsfeld, Maj. Fitzmaurice and Capt. Koehl, returned to Albany, promising to return to the Hub before they leave for home.

The Bremen fliers' second and last day in Boston was crowded with homage despite the rain. It began with a military parade from Coppley to Fenway Park, where the aerial acrobats for the service died were conducted.

From the parade the trio went to the home of Cardinal O'Connell and thence to the Fitz-Carroll to rest. In the afternoon they were guests at a reception in the Brookline home of the German consul, Kurt von Toppelberg, and later at American Legion affairs at their hotel.

The program concluded with a reception and dinner at the Coppley Plaza Hotel under the auspices of German and Irish societies of Greater Boston. More than 1200 were present.

Eddie Gets Chummy With Bremen Crew

EDDIE KEAY, MARTIN, SINNAD McDEVITT

WRITTEN BY EDDIE "RED" MARTIN AND EDITED BY WILLIAM "SINNAD" McDEVITT

(Office Boy Extraordinary)

They say that reporters get all the tough breaks, but this was a lucky one for me.

When the city editor handed me this assignment with a "kill your" instead of "you will," I thought it would be a great chance to tug in with some of the big shots, and so I said "I will" and went to the Ritz Carlton, where the fliers were staying.

Maj. Fliers, what a joint. Almost too lively for words. Oriental rugs, upholstered easy chairs, gold-framed mirrors, flowers in everything.

GUESTS FLYERS.

Two gentlemen, one wearing a monocle and the other a smile, rose as I entered. They were introduced to me as the Baron Hunsfeld and Capt. Koehl.

"Well, Baron," I began, "how did you like the way Boston received you?"

They both began to chuckle an answer, but the Baron finally won the floor.

"I cannot begin to tell you how grateful we are to you and your fellow fliers for the wonderful reception," he said, in almost perfect German.

BARON STALLS ON QUIZ

By this time I had staid him up and couldn't resist asking him if he wore his monocle during the flight across the Atlantic.

"Nah, no," he answered, "but I could have very easily."

"Just then Capt. Koehl chimed in. We are having tough weather today. Again I looked at the Baron. I hated to pull this one on him, but it had to be done.

"Have you noticed your beer since you left the Fatherland?" was the question. It landed softly below the belt. I braced myself for the come-back. It came.

"It would just as soon not answer

CAVALS COULD NO 'STAGGERING STAGS' AT THIS BROWN BALL!

A dozen meetings of affiliated organizations were on today's program.

Ray, Mr. Noyes supplemented his reference to the President's annual twang with the observation that "many of his public acts display a Puritan loyalty to connection."

"Puritan Principles in the Modern World" was the subject of his address.

The Puritan spirit still endures and is an assurance of the future, he declared. He said:

APPEAL OF SOCIETY.

"The frivolous life which flaunts itself in our great cities, the ostentatious display of wealth and luxury, the scandal of our divorce courts and the shameless sensuality of some popular plays the exploitation of sex in press, stage and picture—and many other evidences of the Jazz era in which we live may lead us to think that Puritanism is as extinct as the Dodo."

"Let us not forget that in thousands of homes all over this broad continent the old ideals of simple, honest, sober living are still cherished. It is these who feed the men and women who are the salt of society and save it from decay."

Dr. H. W. Sumner, a Unit of Arlington at Church, speaking on the same subject, referred to the "religious literacy with which our generation is afflicted."

RATES IS RE-ELECTED.

"Who can fail to observe," he asked, "that the weakness of our generation is just at the point where our New England forebears were strongest. Their peculiar methods and their dogmatic creeds have happily disappeared, but the special life of the churches and out of them, is the revival of certain principles—freedom for the individual, democracy for the community and God for the world."

"Even more unsatisfactory than the prevalent religious provincialism is what one may call the spiritual complacency of the times."

Dr. Minot Simons, of New York, was chosen president of the convention. He was elected president of the United States Service Council.

THREE ROXBURY STORES LOOTED OVER WEEK-END

Three stores in Washington St., Roxbury, were broken into and ransacked over the week-end, it was discovered today.

The thieves gained entrance by a skylight into the store of Isaac O'Connell, 241 Washington st., where they took a small amount of money. Going to the cellar they cut their way through a wall into the premises of the Picture Company, 2101 Washington st., where a number of films were stolen and valuable papers and $1 in money taken.

A similar method was made into the shop of S. J. Connolly, Inc., plumbers, at 287 Washington st., where an unsuccessful attempt was made to cut into the cellar. The thieves took a set of tools with them when they left.

SAVE MALDEN BOY FROM DEATH FOR SECOND TIME

What police say was his second attempt at suicide when he was found by Eugene W. Ball, 24, at his home, Craven st., Malden, today. The young man was found unconscious in the kitchen by his mother, who forced him down stairs. The room was tightly closed and with three men from the fire department and hot water heater, Malden police and Dr. Charles S. J. McNeil revived him after using the prone system of resuscitation for a half-hour. The boy is recovering. Six weeks ago, police said, he was found in a partially filled bathtub with the gas turned on. Police could advance no reason for the act.

40 WERE IN DANGER IN PROVIDENCE BUS CRASH

Providence, R. I., May 21 (AP)—Forty passengers on a Providence bound bus, from Taunton, the property of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company, narrowly escaped injury when the bus crashed into a parked truck at the foot of a hill here today.

Air brakes which failed to hold were responsible for the crash. The truck, which was owned by James Muller of East Providence, was badly damaged.

MUSCLE SHOALS BILL FACES COOLIDGE VETO

Washington, May 21 (AP)—The possibility that President Coolidge might veto the Muscle Shoals bill developed today when it was learned that the President does not like the compromise government operation legislation agreed to yesterday by conferees of the Senate and House. This compromise still must obtain approval of the Senate and House.

Two Smallpox Cases in Hub

Dr. Mahoney, Boston health commissioner, reported today to Dr. George H. Bigelow, head of the State Department of health, two smallpox cases, first in this city since 1921. The victims are William H. B. Borden, a Londoner, father of eight children, of Anson's row, 20, North St., and a Bostonian, 24, of North St., Boston. Neither had ever been vaccinated, according to the report.

ADVOCATES ROSARY OF WORDS FOR PROTESTANTS

A rosary of words for Protestants was suggestion of the Rev. Ellsworth Lupton at the meeting of the Unitarian Ministerial Union today. He said:

"In our times of solitude, meditation and prayer, I suggest the following rosary of key words, or word-heads, others, God, health, truth, goodness, beauty."

"These words may do for the Protestant what beads accomplish for the Catholic—they provide a means of concentration and also centers of thought around which ideas and feelings may gather. They offer this advantage; they permit more flexibility, more spontaneity."

The city alliance committee had been a long while out of the time of holding a public demonstration known as the stag line, on the ground that many of the stage were rate-crashers anyway, that unfashioned males annoyed the males who had had lugged their ladies and that somehow, along in the killing evening the stag line managed to become a staggering line.

The city alliance committee was very cute about its intention of staging a stag line, but it was not to be sold only in pairs—no male's ticket with one lady's. No true stag cares to pay for two tickets.

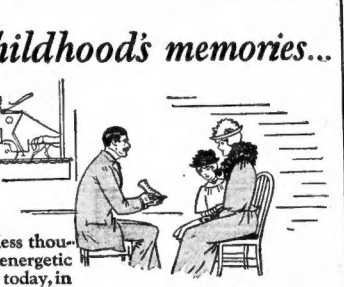

However, with the receding of the stag line, the stag line is again and future affairs will be governed by conditions of next Friday's sale.

The stag will be watched for its sale, crashing, 2. Crash-crashing, and 3. a truly hit-and-run dancing via the cutting-in plan.

WEYMOUTH MAN HELD AS BRIGHTON HOUSE ROBBER

Charged with breaking and entering and larceny of $350 worth of property of Marion C. Bundy of Commonwealth ave., Brighton, and with having burglarized South, Frederic W. Tuma of South Weymouth was arraigned in Brighton court today. He pleaded not guilty and was held in $5000 until Saturday. Brighton police say they found thousands of dollars' worth of stolen property in Tuma's room.

Part of childhood's memories...

There are countless thousands of active, energetic men and women today, in all walks of life, to whom the name Coward is as familiar as the name of the town where they were born. To them the periodic visits to the Coward store to get shoes are part of the whole glamorous background of childhood and early youth.

For generations, intelligent mothers have brought their boys and girls here for their shoes. These mothers have not always been in easy circumstances, but they all were wise. They knew it would be cruel folly to economize by encasing the sensitive, plastic feet of their boys and girls in any but the finest of children's shoes.

And that, inevitably, brought them to Coward. Many of our customers today tell us they were raised in Cowards. In most cases it is obvious that they must have been. Fine, normal feet—straight toes, high arches, freedom from deforming bunions and corns—such are the feet that wore Cowards through the formative years of life.

Your children today need the best shoes that scientific designing can create. Coward has always been acknowledged the leader in creating just such shoes.

HIT BY TRAIN, BIGAMY CHARGE

Evidently struck by a train, Bryan McGrath, of 159 Pearl St., was killed in the East Cambridge yard of the Boston & Maine railroad, about 40 feet from Tower A, today.

He was given first aid treatment and was placed aboard a Boston bound train. At the North Station ambulance from the Hanover st. division was waiting and McGrath was taken in it to the Massachusetts General Hospital. He is suffering from a possible fracture of the skull.

RUM SO VILE HE CAN'T DRINK IT, TELLS MAYOR

Complaining that he paid $3 for a pint of liquor which proved so bad he couldn't drink it, a Lynn man stormed into City Hall today and obtained an audience with Mayor Ralph S. Bauer, who took the name and address of the boozelicker and sent the notation to the police with a request for prompt action.

"My money was good, why wasn't the liquor good?" said the strident man to the Mayor replied: "I'll tell you that the doesn't sell any more, good or bad."

Home Made Chop Suey

NEXT time you are at your favorite grocer's, why not stock up with a combination of Chinese ingredients necessary for making Chop Suey and Chow Mein at home? With a minimum of effort, which I'll be glad to send you, you can make these very dishes that rival the genuine Chinese variety. Best of all, these ingredients are prepared under the most sanitary conditions and from the finest materials.

The dollar assortment contains genuine imported Chinese sauce, tender bean sprouts, crisp chow mein noodles, and a variety of meats, with a free recipe book of interesting, easy and delicious Chinese specialties.

Surely Is Different

HERE'S an easy way to make a mayonnaise that is "different." Just add a tablespoon of prepared golden mustard to a cup of your regular mayonnaise. Note the distinctive flavor and new appeal that it gives.

Prepared mustard blended of five mustard seeds and rare adobe makes lettuce salad a new treat and redeems the cold meat or fish in the more substantial dish.

With almost no effort you can vary the all-important dressing for your salads by using this seasoning. And your family will enjoy the change.

Dessert Is Dainty

THERE is no part of the meal which demands more thought than the dessert. We are content with the good old standbys for the principal course, but with desserts it is different.

Your hunger is partially satisfied by the time they appear, and we are in a more critical mood. We want something attractive to look at, and something that will gratify our sense of taste and not make too serious demand upon our digestion.

Gelatin desserts have an important place in our menu. They are delightful to the eye, pleasing to the palate and infinite in their variety. The one illustrated for you today is as beautiful as it is appetizing.

Maiocco to Lecture

MR. VINCENT MAIOCCO, chef of the Loyal Cafe, will give the lesson in practical cookery on Chef's Day in the Martha Leitch Kitchen, next Wednesday, at 2:30 p. m. Mr. Maiocco, on Hawthorne, is a chef of fifteen years experience in such hotels as the Westminster, Lenox, Brewster, Thimble, and the famous Mt. Washington Hotel in New Hampshire. He was with the City Club for eight years.

The Loyal Cafe, operated by the Boston Restaurant Company, has long been noted for its excellent food at extremely reasonable prices. Here you are always sure of first-class special breakfasts, luncheons and dinners or a la carte service at all hours.

Mr. Maiocco will prepare Apparatus, Maitre d'Hotel, a la Garry, Fleet Mignon is a savory and Brook Trout, Santa Monique.

Plan now to be on hand in the Martha Leitch Kitchen, Wednesday, at 2:30 p. m., to take advantage of this free lesson in practical cookery.

For Quick Meals

WHEN a friend drops in unexpectedly on Sunday night supper, for the appetite whetted by a day in the open, or as a change from potatoes, why not ready-to-heat-and-eat spaghetti in a delicious meatless sauce?

This sauce is really something new and appetizing and something better. It is delicious, full of flavor, recalling the freshness of the kitchen garden. It has character and tang to whet the appetite of the epicure, yet leaves no feeling of heaviness.

It is of a quality so high that thousands of grocers throughout the country are handling any other kind because they know that this particular brand is what their people always give satisfaction.

Not only can this spaghetti be served as a vegetable, but in combination with bacon, chopped olives, left-over meats, etc., it can be used as a main luncheon dish.

It is more about the next time you are in the Martha Leitch Kitchen.

All About Cakes

SPONGE cake is with us many years ago, but the sponge cake variety to a recent foundation. If your family is among these, do try a hand sponge layer cake that comes to you carefully packed, from an immaculate bakery, inviting a filling and topping of crushed berries and whipped cream.

Ever since my introduction to this layer cake some little time ago, it has been my standby for all sorts of filled cakes. Washington pie, for cream cake, etc. Best of all, its price is only 25c for two business layers.

These are the days when we need to tolerate to give our family baker's cakes—if it comes from a bakery of high standard.

The cake I speak of is regular old-fashioned book-the-dam cake, button up in the old brown mixing bowl. You know the kind. Made from country eggs, newly laid, milk just brought in, foaming in the milk, soft, white flour.

From this same bakery come individual sponge cakes in two layers with a thick butter cream chocolate filling between (10c), single sponge cakes, for just a nickel (5c), and larger sponge cakes of fresh eggs and pure milk, 10c and a three-layer cake two sponge layers and one chocolate layer with thick butter cream filling for only 25c.

"Crisp cookies, too, not too sweet, but just sweet enough, made of nourishing whole wheat and oat meal, for 25c a dozen. Shall I wait for the layword?

Recipes in Book Free

THE discriminating housewife is always on the lookout for ways to keep her cookery intriguing. To the modern woman, the mere thought of getting into a cookery rut means a hunt for some new recipe. I have fallen into the trap of an interesting new cook book that acquaints the housewife not only with a new dish for every day in the year, but with a new flavoring to help give variety to much used recipes.

A book that shows her how to give a distinctive professional touch to her cooking. Beautifully illustrated in colors and, besides the recipes, contains many helpful suggestions on oven heat and household help. May I send you your copy?

Fish Cakes Quick

WHERE do they all go to, I wonder—all the millions of cans of ready-to-try codfish cakes that go out into the big plant at Gloucester every year? Into homes all over America. I am sure of people who want the finest in flavor, codfish in these cakes and they are seasoned with salt and sunlight. There's just the right proportion of meaty boiled potatoes in them, too, and of blending and mixing to hold together nicely as you cut the cakes into shape to fry.

The choicest fish and plenty of it is used in these cakes, which insure uniformity and their delicious flavor. They really are a time-saving convenience, don't you think? Free recipe book on request.

Catsup Is Useful

WHEN Mr. Budget haunts you to buy an inexpensive roast, one that is apt to be lacking in flavor, you needn't fear the family's critical palate if you will add a half cup of catsup to the juices that ooze out of your roast.

Then baste the roast from time to time with this combination of meat juices and catsup and you will find the roast more palatable. A new delicious flavor can be cooked into the most ordinary roast.

Potatoes in Pepper Cases Are Attractive
POTATOES IN PEPPER CASES
 Cut enough green sweet peppers for the family into halves lengthwise. Remove the seeds and parboil the peppers 15 minutes in boiling water, to which has been added 1/4 tsp. baking soda. Rinse in cold water and wipe dry. Brown a thin, minced onion delicately in a little oil. Add half a cup of milk, a little salt and pepper, about a third, minced parsley and the onion to the hot mashed potatoes. Beat with a fork until light and creamy, heap lightly in the pepper cases. Sprinkle with a dash of paprika, and bake in a hot oven until a golden brown.

Just enough flavor—
Just enough tang—

Chelmsford is made with pure juice of delicious sun-ripe fruit

The first sip of Chelmsford Ginger Ale proclaims its difference. The moment you taste it you know you've found a different—better—flavor.

Chelmsford isn't like ordinary ginger ale. It is made with real Jamaica ginger blended with sun-ripe fruit. It has that full, rich flavor found only in Chelmsford.

Even the ginger that is used in Chelmsford is specially prepared by careful percolation—like making French drip coffee. This process is costly—but it brings out to the fullest, the zestful tang and aroma of the finest Jamaica ginger.

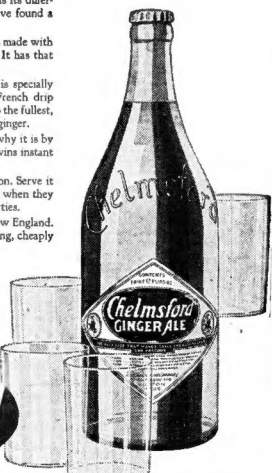

Try Chelmsford for yourself. You'll soon see why it is by far New England's favorite ginger ale—why it wins instant acclaim wherever it goes.

Chelmsford is a joyous drink for every occasion. Serve it at meals—or between. Give it to your friends when they call on you. Use it in making punch for your parties.

Chelmsford outsells all other ginger ales in New England. That's why the price is more than small-selling, cheaply made mixtures. Ask for Chelmsford. Get the original fruit-flavored Chelmsford—that's different! At all grocery, drug and confectionery stores.

4 glass, 28 ounce bottle. Most economical for family use.

PROBLEMS FOR STARS IN TALKING FILMS

By LUCILE A. PARSONS
From House of Famous Artists
The idea of what these movie-makers are now in for is not a new one. They start producing talking films has been explained at Universal City. That is, if in the case, Florida Bird and Edna Ferber show their big Broadway hit to go into the "talkies," which, reports from the East say, they will not consent to.

The idea of what these movie-makers are now in for is not a new one. They start producing talking films has been explained at Universal City. That is, if in the case, Florida Bird and Edna Ferber show their big Broadway hit to go into the "talkies," which, reports from the East say, they will not consent to.

U. S. WARNING IS TO BOTH SIDES IN CHINA WAR

Shanghai, May 21 (AP)—A guardian wall of United States troops will be thrown around American residents of North China if fighting breaks out between Nationalists and Communists in the Peking-Tientsin area.

John Van A. MacMurray, United States Minister at Peking, through Edward S. Cunningham, American consul here, has advised the Nationalist administration at Nanking that American lives will be protected.

A similar note has been handed to the Peking government.

Admiral Mark Bristol, commander of United States naval units in the Yellow Sea, is understood to be at Tientsin.

He will cooperate with the Nationalists, if necessary, against the Communists.

It is believed that the United States will be landed.

MOTHER OF 13 ASKS STORK BE JAILED

Bridgeport, Ct., May 21 (INS)—For many babies in the town of Cromwell, the stork is a problem.

After 10 years of married life, during which time Mrs. Cromwell, who is 21, became the mother of 13 children, they have come to the parting of the ways of the stork which seems quite a problem in their family, what with John making out 2-2 a week—the weeks he worked.

"We can't afford any more children," she told her husband.

But John is a religious man, believing that "the Lord will provide." And he has to be examined in police court as to his mental condition.

Those who have employed Cromwell say he is industrious and of good character. Mrs. Cromwell hasn't anything against her husband except the instance of a big family on $20 a week.

Lindbergh in Hiding on Paris Hop Anniversary

New York, May 21 (INS)—Just one year ago today Col. Charles A. Lindbergh stepped out of the cabin of the Spirit of St. Louis amid a shouting and cheering crowd at Le Bourget airfield near Paris.

He had accomplished the seemingly impossible and the whole world was literally on the feet of the conqueror by air of the Atlantic ocean.

On this anniversary when friends and enthusiasts in general wanted to again congratulate him he could not be found. He was in hiding, purposely shunning publicity, it was said.

He has been staying at the home of Harry F. Guggenheim at Port Washington, N. Y., but could not be found there yesterday. And at the New York office of Guggenheim it was said that his whereabouts was not known.

In the case of Maurice Phinney, also found guilty, Judge J. J. Connelley in federal court deferred sentence, although he indicated a very short day and $500 fine would be the penalty.

MOTHERS THOUSANDS ARE GIVING SAFETY DON'TS TO CHILDREN

Stephen Auluck, of No. 27 Swan place, Arlington, shows that even the children themselves are giving some thought to safety.

Editor of Mothers' Safety Don'ts—I am the mother of six children—14, 12, 8, 5 and 2 years old and one seven months old. I think your campaign is wonderful. Good luck to you.

"My last word to my boys when they go out is to look out for the big, blind thing on four wheels."

"If mothers only realized the danger to children playing in the streets and gave them more care there would be less killed and injured."

The oldest boy, 14, made a suggestion last night that I am sending to the police chief. He said, "Why not have a Safety Don't Club on each street or in each neighborhood and choose a big boy or girl to lead the small children to school or across dangerous places? They would have fun marching and also relieve the mothers who twice a day are worrying whether their children are coming home sound or alive."

"This is a beautiful thing while the boys are so young and they are so much interested that they take an interest in the safety of smaller children we may feel assured that the safety has become a part of their education and they will at all times be conscious of the dangers about them."

This is particularly so with boys, because they are more careless and thoughtless and reckless than girls.

This is not an idle statement, but is borne out by the statistics from the office of the registry last year. Of the 219 children killed, 153 were boys and the remainder girls, and of the 3601 children injured, 2373 were boys and 2228 girls.

The above figures indicate the need for a safety club for boys.

"Don'ts" to the boys, and it would not do any harm now and then to give them something stronger than "Don'ts."

Mrs. Albert Paine, 536 Broadway, North Attleboro, writes: "I think you are conducting a wonderful campaign and as a mother of three children I am grateful. My children are at the age now when they must be careful."

Mrs. Raymond W. Clark of 9 Pike ave., Attleboro, writes: "I am a mother of four and am interested in your good work. I am sending in my 'Don'ts' which I use to warn my seven children each day. They are Kenneth, age 12, Norman, age 11, Jerry, age 10, Barbara, age eight, Harry, age four, Madeline, age two, and Mary, age 21 months."

"I have one girl age 11 and one boy age seven, and a boy nine years old. My children keep me worried all the time. I am sending you 'Safety Don'ts' which I try to impress on my children."

Mrs. Raymond W. Clark of 9 Pike ave., Attleboro, writes: "I am a mother of four and am interested in your good work. I am sending in my 'Don'ts' which I use to warn my seven children each day. $150.00 Reward for Best "Don'ts" on Safety

The Boston Evening American is offering $150 cash prize for the best of the ten "Mothers' Safety Don'ts" to guard children from the auto peril.

The first prize will be $50, second $15, third $10, and there will be 75 $1 prizes.

Awards will be made on common sense, practical views, rather than for literary merit.

The judges are Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller, wife of the governor; Capt. George A. Parker, registrar of motor vehicles; Police Commissioner A. W. Wilson and Assistant Superintendent Augustus L. Butler of the Boston public schools.

Kindly write your "Don'ts" on a separate sheet, using one side of the paper. In your letter state name and address, age and age. Write legibly and include name and address. Do not send letters to Editor Mothers' Safety Don'ts, Boston Evening American, Boston, Mass.

Write early. Remember the contest is already under way. We want to hear from all the mothers.

Not a penny is made by the Boston Evening American from this policy for $1 a year being offered to the readers of this newspaper as an act of public service.

The Boston Evening American has been spoiled by the thousands of accidents and the physical suffering and financial losses resulting. Statistics show that 5760 persons are under sentence of death by accident during the next ten years. They show that 23 persons are accidentally injured every minute, 1350 every hour, and 32,112 every day.

ONE PERSON IS ACCIDENTALLY KILLED EVERY SIX MINUTES! 10 EVERY HOUR! 240 EVERY DAY! 5760 EVERY YEAR.

More than 70 passengers and employees are killed each year in railroad accidents. Accidents occur 113 times as often as fires.

One person in every nine meets with some form of accidental injury every year. One death in 11 results from an accident under way.

AUTOMOBILES KILL 26,800 PERSONS EACH YEAR.

These figures reveal startling conditions. Something had to be done about it, and the Boston Evening American is making this remarkable auto insurance offer to its readers—a $150.00 accident insurance policy for $1 a year.

PROTECT YOURSELF. MAKE YOUR APPLICATION NOW!

Only Four Killed by Autos in Bay State Last Week

Automobiles killed only four persons in Massachusetts during the week ending last Friday, according to Capt. George A. Parker, registrar of motor vehicles. This was the lowest number since February, 1922.

The four fatalities were 11 fewer than during the previous seven days and not one occurred in Boston.

"Cutting out of speed and carelessness will make the list still shorter," said Capt. Parker.

Martha Lee's Chat on Sandwiches and Salads

By MARTHA LEE

CHILDREN and adults alike are fond of sandwiches and salads. They are easy to make and easy to eat. They are also very nutritious. In this chat, I will give you some ideas for making sandwiches and salads that are both delicious and healthy.

For sandwiches, I like to use whole wheat bread. It is more filling and has more nutrients than white bread. I also like to use lean meats, such as turkey or chicken. For fillings, I like to use lettuce, tomato, and cheese. I also like to add some fruit, such as apples or oranges.

For salads, I like to use a variety of vegetables. I like to use lettuce, tomato, cucumber, and carrots. I also like to add some protein, such as chicken or tuna. For dressings, I like to use a simple vinaigrette made with olive oil, vinegar, and salt.

Martha Lee is a well-known food writer and author. She has written several books on cooking and food. She is also a frequent contributor to various food magazines and websites. She is known for her simple and practical recipes that are easy to follow.

CHILDREN AND RHEUMATISM

By Chas. A. I. Reed, M. D.,
Former President of the American
Pediatric Association

EVERYBODY knows what a rheumatism is, and everybody knows that it is a very painful disease. But few people know that it can also affect children.

There is evidence that the disease is becoming more common in children. This is probably due to the fact that children are living longer and are therefore more susceptible to the disease.

The second line of defense against the disease is to keep the child as healthy as possible. This can be done by giving the child a good diet and by keeping the child active.

It is important to remember that rheumatism is a very serious disease. If it is not treated properly, it can lead to permanent damage. Therefore, it is important to see a doctor if your child has any symptoms of the disease.

Aspirin is the most common drug used to treat rheumatism in children. It is effective in reducing pain and inflammation. However, it should be used with caution, as it can have side effects.

Fashion Fads

A surplus of surprise parties is being given in the city. The parties are usually given in the homes of the guests. They are usually very small and intimate.

Bright Buttons and Buckles of the season are the new fashion. They are usually made of metal and are often in the shape of a button or a buckle.

Asparagus should be served with a dressing of lemon juice and oil. It is a very healthy vegetable and is also very delicious.

1 box of Chipso saves work; You'll save steps with 2 boxes

It's a lucky day for any woman when the two-box Chipso plan comes into the house! Hosts of women are saving their steps by keeping one Chipso box at the kitchen sink—and another box by the wash-tub or washing machine.

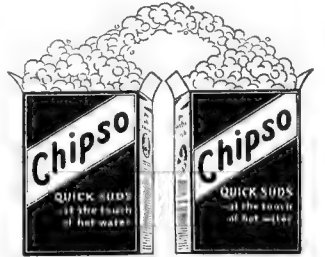

Then, when you want a tubful of instant, dancing suds, you can dip your cup right into the big 25c box—that does 4 to 6 family washings!

And, when you are ready for dishes, you will find Chipso's help within reach, in another handy box that sprinkles the flakes out so thriftily!

If, until now, Chipso-suds have helped you only by soaking your clothes clean, they can be a double-help if you use them for dishes, too! The Chipso way is 1/3 quicker, so you can save a half hour every day! It gives the hard work to Chipso-suds and this not only saves time but keeps your hands practically out of the dishwater!

'Soaks clothes clean

Soaks clothes clean

"No more clothes-rubbing, said the doctor. But I couldn't afford to have my washing done. So I tried soaking with Chipso, to see if I could cheer the washboard. Now all that my clothes need is squeezing—and a bit of rubbing on bed spots!" Mrs. R. A.—New Orleans, La.

Dishes 1/3 less time

"I'm strong for Chipso which solves dishwashing for me. While I wipe my silver, the china is in the Chipso-suds getting clean. And while I wipe the china, the grease on the utensils is being soaked away! My hands keep smooth as silk." Mrs. M. D.—Boston, Kansas.
